

UCMK: Your Local Route to University Success

You don't have to go to university to study towards a degree. Each year over 200,000 people in the UK study towards a university degree at their local college. Now you can be one of them, studying at the new University Centre Milton Keynes based in the heart of the city. So if you thought university was out of reach, think again. Think University Centre Milton Keynes – Your local route to university success.
